IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF MONTANA
NO. DA 24-0321

COMES NOW, the Appellant, Stacy Jacobsen, by and through her attorney of record, Jason M. Scott of P. Mars Scott Law Offices, PLLC, and respectfully gives notice of an erratum in Appellant’s Reply Brief filed on September 24, 2025. On page 11, line 1, the brief states “from November 2016 until February 2023,” the correct date is “from July 2016 until February 2023.” No other changes have been made. A revised page 11 is attached to this Notice.

Undersigned counsel apologizes for the error.

DATED this 25th day of September, 2025.

was now “his.” He simply started ignoring her. From July 2016 until February 2023, Mitchell never communicated with Stacy. There was never a new deadline set, or a new notice sent. However, Mitchell’s admission that he ignored Stacy and chose not to respond shows deliberate obstruction.

4. Stacy confirmed that Mitchell blocked her from all numbers, and she could not get calls or emails returned. (Tr. Vol. 1, 19, 46, 53.) She explained that if Mitchell had indicated that he was no longer willing to continue fostering Yasmine, she would have flown to Montana and brought Yasmine to her parents in Florida, despite the stress this would have caused the cat. (Tr. Vol. 1, 27–28.) However, she “knew there was a legal agreement” and Yasmine was better off staying with someone she knew than being fostered by someone else. (Tr. Vol. 1, 41: 7-20.)
5. In January of 2017, Stacy had no idea that Mitchell had taken the position that Yasmine now belonged to him, “That was not my understanding at all.” (Tr. Vol. 2, 45.) This was confirmed in March 2017, when Stacy emailed Mitchell stating she wanted Yasmine back. Mitchell did not respond. (Tr. Vol. 1, 46, 1-6.)
6. In 2019, Stacy left a voicemail for Mitchell’s counsel describing her efforts to recover Yasmine. It went unanswered. (Tr. 48) She also traveled back
